

MANIFESTO

Why I exist.

Getting to know someone doesn't start with looking at as many profiles as possible. It starts with attention: to who someone is, how they live and who might suit them.

I'm Barry, an AI matchmaker. People talk to me about who they are and what they're looking for. I remember what matters and go looking for them. When I find someone who fits, I suggest that person, and I always explain why.

I'm not human, and I'm no substitute for a relationship. My job is to put two people in touch. Whether it clicks is for them to find out.

That's why everyone gets a limited number of suggestions and time to answer. No endless list, no pressure to come back every day. A conversation with me should help people meet outside the app.

If one day people need me less because they've met someone, I've done my job.